The John Denney company of Chicago expects to start shipments of asparagus from the Lodi delta within a few days and estimates the crop to total fifty or more cars this year.

The first walnut extension school, held at Whittier January 19, 20 and 21, was attended by about 100 growers from all parts of the state. The subpects discussed were chiefly fundamental ones, including irrigation, soil management, pruning, pest control, harvesting and the like.

A survey made public by Earle Mills Butte county horticultural commissioner, reveals that Butte county's fruit crops during 1926 totaled approximately $5,000,000. Efforts are under way to obtain a similar report on the value of grain, hay and other agricultural products in the county.

Beet growers in the Oxnard district have received to date $11 per ton for sugar beets raised in the 1926 season. Recently the sugar refinery which handles the local crop issued checks based on the average sugar price of $5.50 per hundred weight. Final payment to beet growers will be made in July.

There are a number of beautiful new gladioli on the market this year. The lists are overwhelming in their temptations. The old standards should not be neglected for big displays. Order early, for the glad market is an early one. Late orders will be able to get only second sized bulbs in many cases.

Two new poultry centers have been established in the Owensmouth vicinity and more are expected to follow. At present there are over 500 poultry ranches in the district, and it is believed that within a year 1000 families will be living in this community and making chicken raising their major occupation.

Rosenberg Rice Mill at Biggs is running twenty-four hours each day, and rice is being milled at the rate of 3,000 bags a day. Most of the rice now being milled is for export trade to the Orient. There is some domestic rice moving.

The big thing in the poultry industry, and the point overlooked by many is the increase in per capita consumption of eggs now being experienced, says The Hen Coop of the Tulare Poultry association, in a recent issue.

The American Petroleum Institute announced that the total production of crude oil in California during January amounted to 20,184,872 barrels, and that the total stock on the Pacific Coast territory at the end of January was 148,327,007 barrels, an increase of 2,217,831 barrels. The institute also announced that 103 wells had been completed with an initial daily production of 46,370 barrels.

Murder is on the decrease in California, considering the number of crimes on the basis of population, it was revealed in the first compilation of the murder rate ever attempted by the state government. Despite modern "crime waves" a state survey of murder records for the last year shows there were only 8.33 homicides to every 100,000 residents in California, or approximately one person slain out of every 12,000.

Early risers of the Manning community, Fresno county, were treated to a rare sight in the form of a moon rainbow. The conditions for such a phenomenon were ideal following a heavy shower recently, which had passed to the east and which left the western sky almost clear. The primary bow was well defined and fairly bright, and formed a complete arc at a rather low angle. The secondary bow was not so distinct, yet it could be easily traced.

Thousands of quail, both valley and mountain varities, have been driven from the higher elevations by the winter snows and are found in Surprise valley, Modoc county, feeding with the chickens in the barnyards or making themselves at home around the farmers' haystacks. Father John M. Cassin, Santa Rosa, will have been pastor for thirty-seven years in May. This is regarded as a fair indication of the growth made by redwood trees away from their regular environment in the woods.

Stockmen report the best rain visiting the foothill section a short time ago, that has been received at Clavicle, Tulare county, for eight or ten years. Green feed has been abundant the entire season, affording pasture for large herds of feeder cattle. Sales have been frequent this winter, both locally and otherwise, due to the abundance of feed always at hand, as a result of the rainy winter.

Several of the poultry fanciers of St. Helena, Napa county, had been missing their hens of late, and Mrs. James Mitchell found twenty-one large Wyandottes dead. Captain Dan Gardner and others reported losses and it was up to Jack Corallo to catch the guilty culprit. He secured several steel traps and placed one inside of his chicken yard and one on the outside where he figured the thief would enter. He was rewarded by catching a dog with his fore feet in the inside trap and the hind feet in the outside trap.

C. OF C. FAVOR TO ADVERTISE ALL OF CALIFORNIA

Drawing of spaces in the County Chambers of Commerce Pavilion the Exposition of Progress, importance of the 150th Anniversary to Santa Clara County and California, Old Settlers Day at Campbell, coordinating advertising for California in the East, objects of Pacific Highway Association, and other matters or county-wide interest were discussed at the regular meeting of Santa Clara County Consolidated held at Los Altos Scout Hall, Tuesday, March st.

"Problems of California from an "Outside Viewpoint" were talked about by William Marvin of Los Altos. He stressed the point that in his business and travels in the east, he found that northern and southern ceive the best of effect and goodwill. California should coordinate their advertising efforts if the state is to re- He cited examples of ticket agents and other semi-public officials diverting traffic to the south because of the heavy advertising done by Southern California. "Caliofrnia" is a very valuable trade mark," stated Marvin.

The Objects of the Pacific Highway Association in combining the advertising of the Pacific Coast was discussed by Harry Main, the Vice-President and Manager of the Association.

Old Settlers Day and how it was the most successful ever held were related by C. W. Shumway, President of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce. He told of the gratification of Campbell for the excellent cooperation and support all the cities of the county afforded it in their endeavor to put across this biggest of Old Settlers Days.

The definite date of the Blossom Festival at Saratoga will be set at the next meeting of the Saratoga Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. L. N. Scott, its President stated. "Blossoms at any cost" is the slogan this year and Saratoga is waiting until the last moment to set the date of the festival and avoid anything like a "Blossomless" Blossom Festival. Mrs. Scott emphasized the attractiveness of the Sunrise Service held the Sunday morning following the festival, and urged all to be present.

Drawings for space in the County Chambers of Commerce Pavilion of the Fiesta Exposition of Progress were carried on by F. W. Weddleton, Manager of the Show. Every community stated its intentions of entering a fine exhibit in this pavilion and indications are that, with the Flower Show in the same Pavilion, it will be one of the best features of the entire show.

That the possibilities for the Fiesta Grand Floral Parade on May 7 are even greater than they were at this time last year, was stated by Mlcolm Fraser, Manager of the parade.

"San Jose is merely the stage for this wonderful array of flowers," Fraser pointed out. "The compliments that have been paid to Santa Clara Valley during the 50 years of its existence make it a duty to all of California to pay tribute in some form to this wonderful section. This county is really the "mother" of all of the state! Here in the county we must forget any petty prejudices we may have and combined our eorts to make this grand floral parade a tribute to the past, as well as the future generations."

W. K. Roberts of the Water Conservation committee reported that active work in damming up the streams was being carried on all the time and that the work would be extended to other sections in a few weeks.

Ed Merrill and Louis Pope are proudly wearing their First Class badges received on Scout Sunday in San Jose. Jerome Pope received his star badge on the same day.

Many goo dtimes are planned for the troop in the coming spring and summer. Every week-end from now on will find groups of the boys in the hills around the valley, busily passing tests. Plans will soon be under way for the annual summer camp of the Santa Clara County Council, located at Swanton, near the coast. Those of the Campbell boys who went to camp last year are planning to repeat their two-week vacation, and those who have never gone to camp are getting ready for the happiest two weeks they ever had. We hope to have a full troop at camp.

An elaborate banquet was served, which completed an evening of pleasant surprise.

Mrs. J. O. Souto was hostess Tuesday afternoon to group of friends in honor of Mrs. Lucy Smith.

Whist and music were the diversions of the afternoon. Mrs. J. W. Lancaster scoring high honors fo rthe games and Mrs. J. F. Wehmeyer securing the consolation.

Santa Cruz Road Opened To Trucks

The Santa Cruz-Los Gatos highway which has been closed for trucks during the past two weeks until repairs could be made at Inspirtation Point where the pavement caved-in during the recent rains, is now open again to truck traffic. Formerly it was necessary for trucks to detour 50 miles in order to reach Santa Cruz from here.

"CHINA" TOPIC AT KIWANIS LUNGHEON

Harold Cramer held the lunch hour gavel for Kiwanis Wednesday and presented the budget for the coming year. Further discussion on certain items will be held later. He presented as the speaker of the day an old friend and school mate of former days back in the "Badger state." Prof. Clarence Neff of Foochow University, China who gave an interesting talk on conditions in that big country as brought on by the various warring factions.

The country politically is divided into north and south, the latter controlling about two thirds of the country. This division, nationalists comprises the student class and more educated and is generally more patriotic, desiring the formation of one large republic.

The northern contenders believe in strong military control by war lords that are looking more to selfish power and wealth. In these ranks are some 4000 Russian adventures and military men that are used as shock troops.

The Russian influence is quite pronounced, though not Bolshevistic. The southern leaders are using considerable propaganda to win their followers.

The armies do not generally commit the raids but these are the work of bandit bands siezing the opportunities afforded by conditions.

Jovial Jos. McKinnon, supervisor of our district, was present for a visit with the bunch and he was urged by all to come again soon to get better acquainted. He declared that this Kiwanis sure knows how to put on a minstrel show. He saw it.

Hal Tuttle wields the rolling pin next week and, fellows, his middle name is "dough." Dr. Osborn of Los Gatos will speak on "The Under-privileged Child." A real treat in store. Hal Morton will display movies of the bunch.

Campfires Vesta Blyther and Elen Swanson acted as waitresses.

The old single-tax idea must have gotten married and raised a large family.

THE SAD SPECTACLE OF DELAY

America faces the sad spectacle of delay in several of the foremost projects of the nation—projects that mean untold wealth and protection to life and property. Among these are the pending Muscle Shoals disposition, Boulder Dam and Colorado River development, and the near-project, Great Lakes-St. Lawrence River Waterway.

If private business corporations had had control of these projects they would have been either built or abandoned long ago. But government and business are sometimes far divergent. Politics has a small part in business corporations. That is why they can go ahead and do things. But when the Government tries to unlock the earth's resources, or control great natural works for commercial benefits and protection, there enters the unknown quantity—polictics—which causes delay.

It is a bold thing to say, but our conclusion is that officials are sometimes too much afraid of "the people" to use their own judgment. After being chosen to represent the people they are afraid to represent them;that is, too afraid of detail, in which the people are not interested. They are interested in final results. This policy and this reasoning applies to all legislative matters. The idea of representative government is not always carried out. We are so jealous of our liberties" that we spoil the whole broth by trying to get so close to the people that we get nothing done.

But remember this: one Congressman alone can do little. Until all Congressmen develop a National Conscience; until they see America as one big community; until they realize and act upon it, that what helps one part of the United States helps all and vice versa; until they represent the United States of America as well as their own little districts, we will have a provincial congress and not a national congress.

The fault lies not in our being too far removed from our chosen representatives, but that we fail to get out and vote for those whom the majority should elect. When facts show that often less than 50 per cent of the people vote for our officials, how can it be said that we have a "representative" form of government? unless, truly, the minority only is represented.

And to paraphrase, "The fault, dear Brutus, is with ourselves!"

TO MUCH ADVENTURE

Texas, Iowa and New Jesey all report the same day suicides of young men students, at least two of whom left notes to the effect that they "wanted adventure."

It is possible that modern youth has run out of more worlds to conquer, thus seeking the Great Adventure as a mooted final one Whatever may have been the motives behind these rash acts, one thing is true: there are too many suicides. Reform in this regard does not challenge the criminologists so much as it does the thought and the resourcefulness of social workers, churchmen and educators generally. With all of our modern conveniences, accomodations and inventions, there is still a field of genius to work out solutions of contentment and happiness.

A tired man can rest on a sharp rail, but a lazy man can't rest on a pillow. Likewise, a real home town booster can thrive on sharp criticism, but a drone can't get a kick out of doing nothing.

Progress is a question of vital public issues, not of the private ambitions of men.

It takes horse sense to run a stable local government.

Many o gold-digger translates matrimony as "may-try-money."

The character of the soil in the flower garden will determine to a large extent the success or failure of certain annuals. Those which like a rich heavy soil will not do as well in sandy soil. Some that like the lighter medium will do better than when in heavy soil. Some will not flourish if there is not enough lime in the soil, but are not particular as to texture.

M. M. McCallen and Harry Hunter, Louisiana rice men, were investigating rice land near Merced in the hope of closing negotiations for a lease of from 500 to 1,000 acres of land. Hunter said that from a rice grower's viewpoint, the irrigation problem had been solved here, but declared the problem of drainage was equally important.

Doubling their plantings of last season, the Scott Hendricks holdings will set 800 acres of the Yuba farms division, east of Marysville, to beans this year, says Superintendent William Harrison, former farm adviser. The varieties decided upon are black eyes, red kidney and small pink.

CAMP FIRE SPARKS

The Cherokee Camp Fire Girls are very busy getting ready for their birthday celebration. In fact every Camp Fire Girl in the United States is planting trees and earning honors during this month because March 17th is the Camp Fire Birthday. It is a tradition for Camp Fire Girls to celebrate by doing something for someone else, and this year their gift to others is their tree service. Through this tree project they are making their communities lovelier, either by the planting of new trees, or by the care and tending of those already started. So if you see a dirty but happy looking group of girls around town, you will know that they are Camp Fire Girls earning their Tree Birthday Honors. This painted leather honor will be given to each one of the girls at a Birthday Council Fire to be held this month.

PROTECTION

No form of protection for valuables is as sure as that provided by the modern bank vault. The cost of a safe deposit box, and the assurance that important papers, jewelry and other articles of small bulk and great value are secure against theft and fire is worth many times the small annual outlay.

Mr. McCune came here from Lemoore where he had been for seven years with the First National Bank. He is staying temporarily at the L. M. Beall home, but expects to establish other quarters soon.

C. F. Rubel lwas the victim of an auto thief last week. He had his car in his son, Williams, residence garage in San Jose, which was broken open and the car removed. It was found a day later not far from the house apparently uninjured. Some joy rider hard up for a machine evidently.

R. L. Duncan, who was with the Santa Clara Gravel Co., here was transferred to Sacramento about a year and half ago, has now been returned to San Jose. Their friends in Campbell will be be glad to see them out this way occasionally.

Wm. Skiff is perfecting plans for a new home on which work will begin as soon as weather perimts. He bought a lot some time ago on Alice Avenue between the properties of I. R. Abbott and Carl Field.

Mrs. Floyd Grattrel is here visiting relatives. Floyd has been appointed Captain of the motor traffic squad working in the Davis-Dixon district. He will move his family from Stockton to Davis.

PICTURE DAY AT H. S.

One bell for the Senior, two bells for the Juniors, three bells for the Sophomores, four bells for the high Freshmen, and last of all, five bells for the low freshmen. These were the directions given by Mr. Cramer in assembly Monday afternoon. True to schedule when their bell was rung, the various classes filed out and took their places with much laughter and talk on the tennis court to have their class pictures taken.

The girl's athletic teams also posed for their pictures. The Junior girls who wore red blouses with their gym bloomers, this being the official uniform adopted by the girls on the various teams. Girls of all other classes wore the usual white gym middy.

These pictures will be reproduced in the "Oriole" that is to be published toward the end of the year.—Mariam Blaine.

TRACK

Puff! Puff! That can be heard anywhere on the school grounds these days as the boys are limbering up for the coming track season. All sizes turn out for track, reminding one of a bunch of rabbits as the boys run and jump and lo their various feats which they are trying out for. Certainly there will be a lot of sore legs and backs, and I suppose a few cracked heads, but what do the boys care, for they are doing it for the fun that they get out of it and the good they attain from it in body and in mind. And also back of it is the thought of being placed on the high school team to represent their alma mater at the various meets of the year. Why go to the Coliseum at Rome when you can see the running and races that will equal them at our own grounds? The boys do not get the laurel wreath as their brothers the Romans used to, but they do get the wouderful climate of "Our" California.

The volley ball season for girls has opened. All the class teams have elected captains which are as follows:

Rose Satariano, Senior Capt.
Myra Lester, Junior Capt.
Betty Nickols, Sophomore Capt.
Alice Downs, Freshmen Capt.

The girls are showing a great deal of interest in this sport this year and are practicing faithfully that their team may win. Two games have been played already this season. The Seniors played the Juniors in which game the Juniors won by a score of 61 to 11. The Sophomores played the Freshmen and won by a score of 38 to 37.

The girls that are planning on playing baseball are beginning to practice already although the baseball season has not really started. Some very fine teams will probably develop before the season closes.

"CHARLEY'S AUNT"

Rehearsals for the annual play given by the Seniors of Campbell High School are going ahead rapidly. Some night rehearsals are being staged in the Grammar School auditoroum, where the play is to be held.

T. A. Cutting who is coaching the play, is having a rush sesaon with his class work and play rehearsals, combined wtih his responsible position as Oriole advisor. His capable aid is certainly appreciated in all the work under his direction.

Tickets for the Senior Play are being sold by students of all classes. Formerly just the Seniors handled the tickets, but as the time for selling this year is rather short, and in order that every one may secure tickets in time to reserve seats, practically every student in high school will have tickets.

On obtaining these go at once to the Orchard City Drug Store and with the help of the chart, reserve your seats.

SPRING FEVER

This epidemic spread very quickly over the biology class Monday morning. As sunshine was decided upon as the best cure for this disease all adjourned to Albright's bill. There they gathered flowers as specimens; a great many different kinds of flowers were found for this time of the year. The class is spending their time now pressing and classifying the flowers.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
Small Claims Court

A workman completed some repairs for a well-to-do but tight-fisted landlord, who paid part of the labor bill and promised to settle for the rest "in a few days."

Two or three times the landlord made excuses, and continued to put off payment. One day he received a registered letter from the local justice of the peace directing him to appear on a certain day at a certain hour in court. He was being sued for the balance of the labor bill.

The debtor consulted an attorney, but learned that no counsel would be permitted in this "small claims court" trial. Only plaintiff, defendant, and witnesses would be allowed to appear. When the day and hour arrived the trial lasted only a few minutes, judgment being rendered in favor of the workman and the landlord ordered immediately to pay.

The "small claims court" is a form of trial without lawyers. There are no costs for either party—that is, no court or other incidental fees. Claims must not exceed fifty dollars. This court is perhaps largely intended to help workers collect labor bills, but it functions equally well to assist dealers in collecting merchandise account, or farmers to collect for produce or damages. Any ordinary legal claims, in fact, which do not exceed fifty dollars, may be adjusted i nthe "small claims court."

Last week our subject was open mufflers. Constable Coupland and Special Officer Barnes are now supplied with the regular traffic blanks and are prepared to serve notice on traffic violators at any time. But before arrests are made it is desired that drivers shall have opportunity to know the law—no open mufflers within residential or business districts. This is a state law. It applies in all unincorporated towns. Cans or pipes, "noise makers," used instead of mufflers, are illegal. So is all intentional backfiring illegal.

FOUNDER'S DAY PROGRAM

Despite the storm of Thursday evening, last Feb. 7th, an appreciative audience that filled the Assembly Room of the Campbell Union High School, greeted Prof. E. A. Rogers, who spoke under the auspices of the Parent and Teachers Asociation. Prof. Rogers, speaking on the subject, "How shall I make ready for College?" voiced an emphatic denial that a student can succeed without conscience or good character. He deplored the present day system of "Craming" and working for a certain number of required credits for college, and urged parents to find out the purpose of the studies their children are taking, also find out if such studies meet the pupil's individual need and most of all, co-operate by careful home training to improve the moral atmosphere of youth and help them to become not only highly educated individuals, but ones who will want to do their best for the success and happiness of all.

In keeping with P. T. A. Founder's Day, Mrs. W. E. Hart of Mountain View, gave an account of the early work of the National and tSate organizations and Mrs. W. I. Merrill gave a brief resume of the history of the high school association.

Mrs. Louis Shelley, a past president, was then introduced and made the wish that the Campbell High School P. T. A. might eventually have a suitable place, in the new high school building, for its meetings, thus giving the workers a stronger inspiration to "carry on"—and as Mrs. Shelley jokingly admitted, the Campfire girls, too, could use the same quarters—(the recent fire having destroyed their rooms) Mrs. Shelley who is County organizer of the Campfire girls is naturally interested in their welfare. As the P. T. A. is sponsoring the high school groups of campfire girls it is needless to say that they will not be forgotten in the new school. At the present time the association is holding all afternoon meeting at the home of Mrs. D. H. Cramer.

A Founder's Day birthday cake decorated with 30 yellow candles representing the age of the National organization, and four blue candles, representing four local past presidents, was cut and sold at five cents a slice, the proceeds to go for P. T. A. extension work.

During the program a beautiful solo—"Lay My Hand Beneath A Rose," was sung by Mr. Antone Ronaccorso, an alumnus of the Campbell Union High School.

Tea and dainty cakes decorated with hearts were served in the Library where the people lingered for an hour in social conversation making new friendships and renewing the old.

Thos. R. Lumb and Miss Helen arrived home from the south Wednesday evening. Tom has but recently returned from his former home in Iowa and was met by his sister en route.

APRICOT GROWERS RECEIVE MORE THAN $232,000

1926 POOL OF DRIED 'COTS' BRING GOOD FRUIT TO SELLERS

The California Prune and Apricot Growers' Associtaion announces that it has today mailed checks aggregating $232,187.63, representing the final payment to grower-members on their 1926 pool of dried apricots.

Except for the final settlements made on the 1919 and on the 1925 crops of apricots, the settlement now completed on the 1926 crop is the earliest in the history of the Association. The final on the 1926 pit crop was made in December, 1926, and was the earliest pit final the Association has ever made.

Apricots have enjoyed a favorable reception on the world's markets during recent months. With a total green crop some 16,000 tons in excess of the 1925 crop, and with practically all other fruit production, both in California and elsewhere, greatly in excess of the previous year, California Apricots have found reasonably strong markets throughout most of the season and at good prices.

The total realized by growers on 1926 crop apricots ranges from slightly over 15 cents on "Standards" to a little over 23 cents on "Extra Fancy Moorparks." The prices returned to grower-members for their 1926 apricots average better, with the sole exception of the 1919 crop which was produced and sold during a period of war activity, than the prices netted on any other crop since the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association was organized.

Figures are not yet available on the total production of 1926 crop dried apricots, but it is quite probable that it was somewhat under that of 1925 on account of the great increase in the 1926 canned apricot pack. According to the Canners' League of California, the 1925 canned pack was over 2,196,000 cases and the 1926 canned pack was more than 3,390,000 cases of apricots—an increase of over 1,000,000 cases.

WELCOME SONG

As sung by Hal Tuttle at Kiwanis Minstrel show.

Long years ago this town of ours, it wasn't on the map
The Indians scalped each other, as they heard coyotes yap.
And then brave pioneers arrived and drove these pests away,
And Campbell celebrates these deeds, by their old settler's day.

How many changes there have been since you first settlers came,
Electric lights and water bills, and Interurban train,
The Volstead Act has struck us hard, but we must not complain,
They've left us milk and ginger ale and we drink it just the same.

And Campbell's grown to be a town quite metropolitan
Our fire department does it's stuff, if gas they have on hand.
To rob our bank in broad daylight some villians made a plan.
And now our last improvement is, we've got a garbage man.

CHORUS

We're glad that we're glad and we hope that your glad
That we're glad we're glad you're here.
Kiwanis club is right on hand to welcome you every year.
We're loyal sons of Campbell and we wish you all good cheer.
We're glad that we're glad and we hope that you're glad
That we're glad we are glad you're here.
